Description

I am trying to identify transitions from households to institutions among older people aged 65+ (ideally residential or nursing homes, but otherwise any institutional setting). I'm hoping to identify all respondents known to have moved to an institution, rather than just those that are successfully followed up (w_dweltyp and w_preason provide a handful of institutional/proxy interviews).

Any advice on other variables to investigate would be gratefully received!

Dear Tom,

We do have some additional data which could help answer your question but it is not currently released. The data team are working towards being able to release it and I will keep you informed of when that might happen.

Best wishes,
Stephanie
