Description
Good evening,
We are currently conducting research using the chronic health condition variables. I was just wondering if there was a specific reason that the study decided to focus on particular health conditions (ex. asthma, chronic bronchitis, diabetes), or if the conditions were chosen at random.
Thank you so much,
Nadya

Dear Nadya,

Our choice is informed by the expertise of health research experts and established studies in the field, such as the National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey and the Adult Psychiatric Morbidity Study.

I hope this helps.
