Have you done any analyses of those who are self-employed, that I can look at? Based on the recent ONS analysis of well being and job satisfaction I wanted to learn if you could provide any details that compares the well being and job satisfaction of those classified as self-employed to employees, and if you have any trend data?

We mainly provide micro data. Research based on our data is often reported around here; <https://www.understandingsociety.ac.uk/>

Is this data is available by local authority, region or for UK only?

UK Region (w_gor) can be found in the end user licence release. See also this FAQ;
